

Please BRING WITH YOU the following documents for verification of financial eligibility at your first screening eligibility appointment:

- State of Florida-issued photo identification showing your current address, like a driver's license.
- Any other government-issued identity cards you have, like a social security card.
- Some other proof of where you live with your name and address on it (e.g.) a power or phone or water bill.
- A list of everyone in your household-their names, ages, and relationship to you.
- Official copy of last year's tax return, or letter of non-filing. Free copies can be obtained from the IRS local office, or by calling 800-829-0922. {Do not choose the option of holding for an operator (takes too long).} The IRS will mail the documents to you within 10-14 days. Or you can click this link for an IRS Form 4506-T, which you can download and fill out to request the information. Mail it to: IRS, Atlanta, GA 39901-0002.
- Proof of household income (W-2s, copies of recent tax returns, stubs from paychecks or benefit payments, copies of alimony checks, award letters for child support, Social Security, unemployment assistance, and a description of any help you receive from other people, ministries, or agencies). You must be willing to sign a legal document for the State of Florida that the income information you provide is correct.
- The bottles for any medications, supplements, or vitamins you take or have recently taken.

- Any other medical records you might have in your possession.
- DO BRING a written list of your personal health questions or concerns, and please tell us of any medical/dental problems you want to learn more about.
